

TIFFIN TEAM EASY FOR SHOVEL Y-INDUS

GILLIS, LOCKWOOD GO ON SCORING RAMPAGE IN 36 TO 15 VICTORY

Upstaters No Match for High-Powered Attack of State Champions.

By BOB BYRD
The Shovel Y-Indus quintet cut another figurative notch in the handle of its scoring machine last night when Tiffin Y. M. C. A. basketballers fell easy prey to the accurate shooting of the local club. The game was played in the Shovel gym and the final score was 36 to 15.

After a rather slow first quarter in which neither team displayed anything more than routine ball handling, the Y-Indus attack started functioning in the usual manner, rapidly rolling up a lead that was never threatened by the out of towners.

Gillis, Lockwood on Top
Vic Gillis, ace forward for the Y-Indus, five minutes of the club's scoring column with eight field goals for a total of 16 points. Walter Lockwood trailed Gillis closely with an even dozen markers.

Belaner, Tiffin forward, chalked up six points and first place among the Tiffin scorers. His dexterity and speed made him the outstanding performer of the Tiffin team. Blum, highly touted upstate center, managed to get an easy majority of tip-offs from the center in the first half of the game and hit the loop for four points during the same time. Lockwood took the advantage in the second half and outplayed the opposing pivot man.

Seven fouls were recorded against Tiffin as compared with four for the winners. Successful charity tosses were almost even, the Marion club scoring four to three for the visitors.

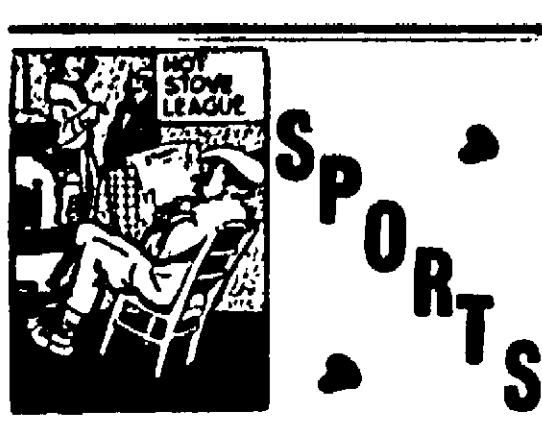

Locals Too Strong
After the game had progressed for about five minutes it became evident that the local champions would have little trouble disposing of the invading force. The Y-Indus offense did not click during the first few minutes of the game but when it did start working in its usual smooth fashion the opposing five was powerless to check the scoring antics of Gillis and Lockwood. The score at the half stood 10 to 5 for Marion and the entire second team had been playing for five minutes of the second quarter.

Captain Cram started a majority of the second stringers again in the second half and kept them on the floor until the end of the third period. When the Tiffin team threatened to start a rally at that time he again injected his first team lineup for a few minutes and ran the score far beyond reach of the upstaters. The second stringers again took the floor late in the game.

Senior Church Cage League to Resume Play Tonight

TRIO OF GAMES TO RENEW COMPETITION FOR HARDWOOD TITLE

Waldo, U. B., Epworth Favorable To Win Battles on Y Floor.

Now that the enjoyment of the Christmas holidays has worn off the basketball players of the Y. M. C. A. Senior Sunday school cage circuit will take to the Y hardwood tonight to resume a torrid battle for the city church championship. Three games are slated for play, most of them among occupants of the second division of the league.

Starting the hostilities tonight will be the Epworth U. B. St. Mary's battle. Following this contest Calvary will lock horns with Waldo, a championship contender.

Waldo Lutherans, one of the two out-of-town fives competing in the circuit, has been trying hard for two or three years to take the title down the highway about to enter but the closest they have come to it is to go to the finals and lost to the Christians. This season they are very much in the race again but it looks like the Presbyterians would prove slightly the class of the league. The Presbys should dethrone the present champions, as well as a disappointment for another year the hopes of Waldo for a championship quieted.

Old Man Depression who has kept sporting activities in Marion down to a minimum since last fall took the count here today with the announcement that wrestling would be resumed.

The first card, according to promoters, will be staged in the Steam Shovel gym next Monday and will bring Pinkie Gardner and some other good light heavyweight together in the main attraction.

Marion has been fortunate in the past in obtaining some of the best talent available in that circles. The opening card promises to keep up this high standard which has made the sport so popular here.

Basketball admirers of Baldy Compton, formerly head coach of Harding High school, will be pleased to learn that the one time director of the Presidents is coming through in a big way with the court squad of the Lutheran school. To date this season the Wittenbergers have not dropped a contest, sweeping everything before them in ruthless fashion.

Last week the team went through three opponents, Lehigh, Highland Young and the University of Alabama. The latter, in case you didn't know it, played through a difficult 20 game schedule last season without being defeated. A majority of the last year's team is again playing this year.

Compton is fortunate in having a veteran squad to work with in his first year at the Lutheran institution. That he is making the most of this "break" is evident when one notices that he has three teams, each class upsurge performers. Naturally enough, the three are not of equal strength. Nevertheless the third team is strong enough that it has been used in nearly every game this season.

STOCK MARKET TRADING DULL

Issues Have Difficulty to Either Decline or Rally; Rubber Slumps.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The stock market found it difficult either to decline or rally today, but had a better success with the latter movement than the former.

Reaction on the opening produced a downward trend through much of the forenoon, but excessive buying developed when the leading issues sold off a point or two. The market became somewhat nervous and turned in its tracks, reacting on the result of a sharp decline. Volume remained low on the rally.

Consolidated Gas, North American Telephone, Atchafalaya, Missouri Pacific, Warner Brothers, Lowry, McGraw-Hill, American Can, and others improved a point or more when the pressure was put on them. Myers "A" ran up 1/2 point, and American Tobacco 1/4 point. American Sugar preferred 1/4 point, Western Sugar preferred 1/4 point, and 3, respectively. Consolidated Gas, American Can, and American Tobacco were the preferred gains about 1/2 point. The last night's close was again weak, dropping 1/2 point. Other rubber shares were slightly higher.

Commission houses believed the market had further ground to cover in the advance before an important reaction was encountered.

There is still some concern over the action of the commodities, especially silver, which made new lows today in both New York and London.

Reports that automobile plants and to a lesser extent the railroads are re-employing labor made encouraging reading, and added support to the opinion held by some observers that the unemployment curve would reach its lowest point some time this month.

Wall Street expects the steel operations to show an increase. Demand from the railroads and from the automotive trade has been picking up, and the development of a seasonal upward trend is anticipated.

Although the increasing strength of bonds may not prove to be the first stages of the long-awaited bull market in those securities, the gains of the last ten days are regarded as indicative that the special conditions which forced bonds down early in December are no longer present. A strong bond market, it is argued, would be a truly bullish development.

Money was cheap and plentiful. Funds were offered privately at a concession from the stock exchange renewal rate of 1 1/2 per cent.

Today in Marion Markets Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Marion market prices continued at normal levels this morning with one exception. Butter dropped another cent on retail quotations, following a general downward trend throughout the state.

Butter prices here, lower than those in other cities by virtue of a local condition among wholesalers, took the one cent drop with other markets to maintain the price proportion.

Fruit and vegetable prices were unchanged today. Most produce is adjusted to winter trading, and little variation in prices is expected for several months.

FOREIGN NEWS CAUSES GAINS

Domestic Crop Advances Also Unfavorable, Giving Firmness to Trading.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Torrential downpours delaying the Argentine harvest and injuring wheat quality gave early firmness to grains today. Australian harvest advances and winter crop conditions in Missouri and Kansas were also unfavorable. Opening unchanged to 1/4 off, wheat later hardened some what. Corn started at 1/4¢/4¢ decline, but afterward scored gains.

Dry weather affecting the wheat belt from central Kansas east through Missouri was reported as serious with some towns reporting no rain for weeks. Areas east of the Mississippi were also in need of rain. Winnipeg reported that plans for a loan to China to promote wheat sales were not taken seriously, and cables said many restrictions would hinder European countries from importing wheat despite cheap prices and big world visible supplies.

Scanty arrivals of corn and primary centers continued. Today's total was 480,000 bushels against 882,000 a year ago. Chicago had only 34 cars, and St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha speculative buying was meager.

Wheat feature. Oats followed corn. Provisions were in better demand and higher.

DISCUSS CALENDAR

Eastern Hear Good Points of 11-Month Year Proposal

The debate scheduled at a meeting of the Marion County Ministerial association yesterday morning at City library, developed into a discussion. Rev. H. L. Oelwer, pastor of First Presbyterian church and Earl N. Hale, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., explained the points of their side on what was to have been a debate on "Resolved: That the New 11 Month Calendar Shall Be Adopted."

Mr. Hale spoke first, giving a history of the Julian calendar now used, and interesting highlights in the work of compiling the first calendar. Rev. Oelwer's talk consisted of giving the better points in favor of the new 11-month calendar. His talk was based mainly on the value of the new calendar to the business and economic world.

More than 12 of the ministers present indicated their intention of attending the Ohio Farmers' convention at Columbus, Jan. 19-22.

GRAND JURY INDICTS ONE

Merle Carr Only Person Against Whom True Bill Is Returned.

Only one indictment was returned by the January grand jury which reported this afternoon to Judge George B. Scofield of common pleas court after a short session which began Monday morning.

The grand jury failed to return indictments against six others whose cases were considered.

Merle Carr Indicted

Merle Carr, charged with both grand larceny and with receiving stolen property, was the only one indicted. Those against whom indictments were not returned are Richard Robinson and John Thomas Jones, charged with automobile stealing, Earl Chesser, charged with grand larceny, Dale Kille, charged with forgery, Thomas Brundage, alias George Miller, charged with uttering a forged instrument, and A. E. Clemens, charged with embezzlement.

Failure of the grand jury to return an indictment against Robinson was due to the fact that since the charge was placed against him he has been convicted and sentenced to Mansfield reformatory on a robbery charge.

The jury, following its investigation into the seven cases, made an inspection of the county jail, and recommended the new ventilation system be installed and that the electric wiring system be inspected.

Recommend Tobacco

Rations of tobacco for the prisoners also was recommended when an investigation disclosed that such issuance of tobacco recently was stopped.

Sixteen witnesses were examined by the jurors during the short session.

Carr probably will be arraigned before Judge Scofield Thursday.

John Washburn of Marion was foreman of the jury.

CITY OUTLINES 1931 PROJECTS

Mt. Gilead Expects To Complete Disposal Plant, Widening Program.

Special To The Star.
MT. GILEAD, Jan. 4.—At the first council meeting of the year held Monday night, two outstanding city projects for 1931 were discussed by the council.

Members of the sewer committee submitted a report on the installation of a new sewage disposal plant from the plans of C. H. Lewis. It was revealed that the state health department would not force the installation, but no order had been issued by the department in regard to the installation of a new plant. Approval of plans is expected at the next council meeting and the plant will be installed in the spring.

The widening of Main street will also be done during the summer if sufficient funds are available for the work. The cost is estimated at $10,000 with one-third to be paid by the state. Gas tax funds on hand and to be received this year will, a number of the councilmen state, be sufficient to cover the entire cost without using any general taxation funds.

Albert Payne was re-elected president of the council for 1931. Bert Bending was reemployed as street commissioner.

The budget for the year, submitted to the county budget commission for approval was cut down considerably before being returned to the council. A total of $28,000 for the expenses of the city for the year was approved. Of this amount $5,000 is to be used for bond retirement and interest, leaving only $18,000 for running expenses and the proposed improvements.

CASEY TO EXPLAIN CHARGES AGAINST DIRECTORS; FACES NINE-YEAR TERM

Special To The Star.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3.—James E. Casey, former president of the defunct Gallion Citizens' National bank, will be called before a federal grand jury here to explain his charges against directors before he starts serving a nine-year term in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Casey, who yesterday pleaded guilty to four of the 32 counts contained in three indictments, has claimed that stock market speculations were carried on with the knowledge of some of the bank directors. Casey's attorney made this statement in pleading for leniency before the federal judge. The November, 1929, market crash resulted in $223,000 loss in the bank's funds it was revealed.

The inquiry made by United States District Attorney Wilfred J. Mabon did not reveal any evidence pointing toward the other directors, he said.

SENTENCE of two years and a fine of $4,000 were given for each of the three counts charging falsification of reports to the controller, and a sentence of three years and $4,000 fine for the count charging falsification of records. The sentences are to run consecutively.

The three incorrect reports, which Casey admitted making, occurred on Jan. 7, April 7 and July 10, all of last year. In the first report Casey alleged the bank's resources were $643,745.48 when in reality they were only $580,358.90.

a government investigation disclosed. In the second report, Casey averred the institution's liabilities were $224,428.72 at that time. The third report, made less than three weeks before the bank was closed, listed the bank's liabilities at $78,066.10 when they were $188,066.10.

To further conceal the shortage, the former president changed the debits of the account of Mart L. Helfrich from $400.01 to $322.50, the fourth count to which Casey pleaded guilty alleged.

"THE Citizens' National bank was closed by state bank examiners on July 25, 1930. Casey resigned the previous day. It was learned. Federal agents arrested Casey on July 30. He pleaded not guilty, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner H. K. Cochran here.

Casey blamed the entire affair on attempts by himself and members of the board of directors to recoup "frozen" assets through stock market speculations.

The indictments charged that Casey and several other directors with Vercoe & Co., Mansfield stock brokers, in the bank's name and another account with Oils & Co., Cleveland brokers, in his own name.

At irregular intervals over a period of more than a year, Casey deposited a total of $113,764.21 in cash, bonds and securities with Vercoe & Co. to purchase stocks on a 50 per cent margin, the government claimed.

In his own account, Casey was charged with depositing $48,500 of the bank's funds with Oils & Co. McDermott explained that the government was satisfied with conviction on the four counts. "Admission of falsification of bank records," he said, "is virtually an admission of misappropriation of funds. There is hardly any need for further prosecution now."

Special To The Star.
KENTON, Jan. 3.—After a restless night in the home of his parents in McDonald township, Thomas Wilcox, 14, today was recovering from effects of a bullet wound in his right leg, above the knee. He is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Elgin Wilcox.

Thomas was shot when a 22 caliber rifle was accidentally discharged by his cousin, Lewis Ford, 14, of Lima. The wounded lad was brought to McKittick hospital and an operation was performed to remove the bullet which had entered the leg from the rear and had passed entirely through the bone. Anti-toxin for lockjaw was administered, and although a high fever remained, the attending physician believes there is little danger to the boy.

Members of the family said that Thomas and his Lima cousin had gone to the barn on the Wilcox farm to shoot sparrows. Lewis carrying the gun was a pace or two in the rear of Thomas when the gun was discharged. He does not know how it happened.

Who's To Blame?

BUCYRUS GIVEN HOSPITAL SITE

Monnett Memorial Group Makes Transfer of Land for New Structure.

Special To The Star.
BUCYRUS, Jan. 3.—Another step towards the realization of a $100,000 municipal hospital in Bucyrus was taken Monday night when the Monnett Memorial Hospital association passed a resolution transferring the present hospital site to the city of Bucyrus.

The city council will take further steps towards the completion of the project with the acceptance of the site and the opening of further proceedings. It is expected that council will request the present hospital board to continue until the new hospital is completed.

The hospital board, which met following the meeting of the association, went on record as favoring a change in the legislation governing the hospital, which placed entire control in the hands of the safety director. That too much authority was placed in the hands of one person, was given as the reason for the action.

Title to the present hospital site, donated to the city for hospital purposes nearly 25 years ago by E. J. Monnett was recently relinquished by Mr. Monnett when he presented a quit claim to the city on the condition that the hospital association do likewise.

Broadcasting Adds Season of Success Including Steps Toward Television

North Achievement Gets Standing Place on Year's Record.

L. BUTTERFIELD, Associated Press Radio Editor, YORK, Jan. 6.—Broadcasting forward in 1930 at a pace outdistanced all other enterprises.

The year by celebrating its anniversary, it made progress in bringing the hearts of America to a better knowledge to entertain its great listeners.

It took cognizance of the fact that the year which was the first of the laboratory by starting experimental work of its own.

With the words "depression" on the lips of the nation, the year was marked by the first of the "radio" in the home.

It came through the year in the post-war period, and it is expected to attain efficient support through the year.

The Stars Say---

A rather unimportant day in the calendar, but one of a rather important nature, and may include many small annoyances, and in domestic, affectional and social circles. With a quantity and wise action, things may be developed with some satisfaction, but all depends on one's own attitude. A child born on this day may be expected to be restless, nervous, querulous, and critical, qualities which may react unfavorably on its own peace of mind and progress.

Half-Million in Sales

Its close ally, the radio industry, meeting a different situation in the marketing world, was not quite so optimistic. Yet it marked up a total sales figure of around $300,000,000 for sets, parts, tubes, etc., despite obstacles not heretofore encountered in its comparatively short life.

Television probably got its greatest impetus through the announcement of the successful completion of laboratory work by Philo T. Farnsworth, young San Francisco inventor, in which he discarded mechanism from transmitter and receiver and replaced it with special vacuum tubes.

Farnsworth, who expressed the belief that he had been enabled to bring practical television much nearer, also reported he was able to send a 300-line picture on a five-kilocycle channel, half the width required for broadcasting.

Other Signs of Progress

Otherwise, television showed sufficient advancement to attract wider attention, including active laboratory transmission work by the National Broadcasting Co. and steps taken by the Columbia Broadcasting system for experiments with its own equipment.

Numerous broadcasts of outstanding events and features marked the year, but topping the list was the two-way conversation with the Antipodes on March 12, in which Rear Admiral Richard E.

BILLIE DOVE STARS IN CRIME PICTURE AT OHIO THEATER

Fairbanks Jr. Plays Lead Role with Tully Marshall Supporting.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

THE BEAUTIFUL Billie Dove stars in "One Night at Suzie," an underworld picture coming to the Ohio Theater Wednesday and Thursday. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is her leading man and Helen Ware and Tully Marshall have important roles. Billie Dove has been called by some the most beautiful woman on the screen.

There is probably no greater object of pity than the crook who has been confined in the penitentiary for many years and eventually comes out an old man—too old to start life anew. Tully Marshall plays such a role in this picture. The director of the picture obtained a number of exterior shots of "Sing Sing" for this picture, as part of the action of the story consists of the fact that Fairbanks is sent to the penitentiary for a crime which he did not commit.

This much we know about the theme. It deals with the conflict between the love of a foster mother who is a "fence," but who has raised the boy to go straight and the chorus girl, whom she does not think is good enough for him. That love is giving, rather than merely taking is the basis of the story. Helen Ware is the foster-mother.

Frederick Harlitt Brennan wrote

the story from which the picture was made. It ran serially in a magazine.

MIMES TO REVIVE "EAST LYNNE"

Here's something good "East Lynne" one of the best of the old, old, stage plays, is being revived by the Marion Mimes for presentation Wednesday and Thursday nights, Jan. 21-22 at the Ohio.

The play presented so successfully by the students of dramatics at Ohio Wesleyan theater last year, will be given by the Mimes in the atmosphere of the days it was written in the '60's.

The leering villain, twirling mustache and making himself disliked to the point of hisses from the audience is to be the lot of... no, we won't tell you now, you'd mob him.

Committees are scouring the town for old furniture, horsehair chairs and divans, old wall-size portraits and all the jimmies of the time and the charming dresses and suits of the day when the play was first written.

Everything will be done to give the audience the feeling of the period. A quartet will sing the old songs, "She's Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage," "My Mother Was a Lady," and you can name the rest, all of them old ballads that have come down through the years unscathed by zippy jazz accompaniments.

Later, the cast and director will be announced, and something further of the plan for making this revival a high spot in Mimes activities.

Don't miss Bobby Jones, King of Golf, on Listerine Hour

Beginning Wednesday night, April 14th—8 o'clock (Eastern Time) NBC red network

Gargle LISTERINE

every 2 hours when you have a COLD or SORE THROAT

In your mouth, a fierce and continuous battle is being waged. The forces of Health against those of Sickness. Nature against Germs—dangerous bacteria that lodge and multiply in the mouth by millions, striving to cause illness.

Surely you can appreciate the necessity of using, every day, a mouth wash fatal to germs, yet harmless to tissue!

Physicians have long urged a night and morning gargle with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic with the pleasant taste. For Listerine kills germs of all types in 15 seconds. No faster killing time has ever been accurately recorded by science.

Gargle every 2 hours

The morning and night gargle is deemed sufficient, in time of normal health, to keep germs under control and maintain a cleanly condition of the mouth.

But when infection is actually under way, which is the case when you have a cold, sore throat, or inflamed condition of the oral tract, authorities urge that the gargle be repeated every two hours.

By so doing you give the body, now at lower resistance, the extra attacking force it needs to combat the ever-multiplying germs in the mouth.

Mouth germs reduced 98%

If you could look into your mouth with a microscope before and after gargling with Listerine, you would behold a remarkable transformation.

Before the gargle you would see millions and millions of germs, alive, wriggling, darting to and fro. After, you would see the same germs dead and powerless to cause harm.

Repeated tests, following the technique employed at great universities, show that full strength Listerine actually reduces bacteria on the surfaces of the mucous membrane 98%.

Take this precaution

At the first symptom of trouble in the oral cavity, begin gargling with Listerine and consult your physician.

Do not be afraid to use Listerine undiluted. Only in this way can you get the full benefit of its germicidal action. Remember that Listerine is non-poisonous, absolutely safe to use, and actually healing to tissue. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Reviews Expenditures

During his two years of tenure, the governor said $3,500,000 have been spent for additions and betterments for welfare institutions which he declared to be 40 per cent more than the average during the last five biennial periods. This does not include $1,000,000 in betterments under contract, he said.

Reviewing the state's educational activities, he pointed out that there now are 2,000 consolidated schools,

House and senate in joint session to hear final message of retiring governor, Myers Y. Cooper and to canvass votes cast in November election.

Governor's budget message calls for $30,000,000 for general revenue fund during the next two years.

Introduction of bills in order after Governor's recommendations are made.

Senator Joseph Ackerman of Cleveland prepared to submit measure to repeal Ohio's prohibition enforcement act.

an increase of 1,900 during the last 16 years, but that instead of 9,500 one-room country schools as at that period, there now are only 4,500 with the number constantly decreasing every year. He also called attention to the state's annual appropriation of $4,000,000 for state aid to weak schools, declaring this aid must be continued as it is impossible for many rural sections to meet their school needs.

That these rural sections should be given state aid, much of which must come from the urban centers, the governor said it costs $4,000 for each high school graduate and that 90 per cent of them immediately go to the larger cities to live.

Reviewing highway development under his administration, the governor said 200 miles of improved roads had been added each year at a saving of $2,000,000 on contracts.

Much of the work, he said, has been the closing of gaps between improved roads, widening of existing thoroughfares to eliminate dangerous curves and the like, elimination of grade crossings and construction of new and wider bridges on main arteries. The total mileage of improved state roads at the end of 1930 was 11,339, he said.

Installation of a new accounting system, which he claimed had resulted in considerable financial savings, was praised by the governor. By installing a combustion engineer service, he said, $300,000 had been saved alone on the state's fuel bill.

Reviewing the administration's efforts to relieve unemployment, he praised the work of committees which were set up throughout the state, but asserted that "active assistance, however, of all of our more favored citizens will be required to prevent great suffering during the present winter where the wage earner has long been unemployed or where the drought has seriously restricted food and feed supplies."

In discussing stabilization of industry and employment, the governor said it was his belief that a great deal can be done by industry in stabilizing employment where management turns serious attention to this matter."

Efforts to aid drought sufferers, he said, had been made by use of all available state funds. Reduction in freight rates on 5,000 cars of cattle feed had resulted in a saving of $350,000 to the farmers, he said. Praise was given the Red Cross for its efforts in aiding drought sufferers.

Reviewing the work of the last legislature, the governor called attention to the enactment of the conservation law, repeal of road assessments amounting to $1,000,000 a year, allocation of $2,000,000 annually for improvement of township roads, repeal of the Pence utility law, enactment of a new election code, restoration of the state library, and revision of the blue sky law.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN WIND STORM

Freak Tornado Takes Heavy Toll in Virginia and North Carolina.

By The Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 6.—Six persons were dead today in the wake of a freakish wind storm that dipped down into two counties in North Carolina and one in Virginia late yesterday, leaving devastation in its path.

Mrs. Grover Henderson was killed in the collapse of a farm house near Boydton, across the state line in Mecklenburg county, Virginia.

Near Ridgeway, in Warren county, North Carolina, four negroes were crushed to death by falling timbers of their home and a fifth, a girl, was killed in the collapse of a negro farm section school.

After sweeping along for 20 miles in Caswell county, the storm apparently lifted and left two counties untouched. It struck again near Boydton and a third time near Norfolk, to cut a swath six miles long and several hundred feet wide from Ridgeway to Wise.

the guilty verdict. His claim came after the court asked him for reasons why sentence should not be passed.

"You have had a fair trial before jurors who did not know you and who therefore were not prejudiced," the judge told Seckel after the latter had made his accusation. "If you want to carry the case to the court of appeals, that is up to you."

Life Savings Gone

Seckel was found guilty of having stolen $405 from Mrs. Amanda Smith, a 79-year-old neighbor woman. He was accused of stealing all of her $3,000 of life savings but when arrested in connection with the charge, city police found a total of $405 on his person. This money was identified by Mrs. Smith as her property when she took the witness stand.

William P. Moloney and J. D. Williamson are attorneys for Seckel. Former Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen handled the case for the state, and his successor, Russell M. Wilhelm, who took office yesterday, represented the state today when the sentence was passed by Judge Scofield.

GIVES FIGURES ON DROUTH AID FUND

Red Cross Ready To Appeal to Public If Money Runs Out, Payne Says.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Red Cross has an emergency fund of $4,500,000 which to administrator Charles Payne said, is sufficient to aid drought sufferers throughout the winter.

This the senate appropriations committee learned today from Chairman Payne, of the organization. He said $849,963 had already been spent.

If its funds are exhausted, he said, the Red Cross will appeal to the American people.

"If we get toward the bottom of the barrel we will let out a yell and I have no doubt whatever that the American people will respond," he said.

He was called after administration spokesmen had opposed government food loans to farmers of the drought area on the ground the Red Cross was capable of meeting adequately the present situation.

Meanwhile, house Republican leaders planned to send $45,000,000 drought loan bill to conference with the senate, in an effort to eliminate the senate amendment which would add $15,000,000 for food loans.

Judge Payne told the senators clothing and food had been given 49,963 families, or about 250,000 individuals in 17 states at a cost to Dec. 31 of $520,802, in addition to the distribution of pasturage and other seed at a cost of $328,162.

connection with both store burglaries here.

Local police have no other clues to any other of the four burglaries and two holdups staged in Marion Saturday night, acting Police Chief Shrock said today. A lone bandit held up the Credit Loan & Discount Co. and escaped with $416 and later took $5 from the Pickering grocery on Davis street. Four burglaries, including two in which the negroes were implicated, also were committed.

An indictment of Starr on a charge of attempted robbery was expected when a Morrow county grand jury met this afternoon. Report Predicts Move To Oust C. O. P. Head

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—Coincident with announcement that a meeting of the Republican state central committee had been called for tomorrow, numerous rumors, including one that State Commerce Director Ed D. Schorr of Cincinnati, chairman of the committee, may be ousted, were in circulation today.

Schorr has been storm center of several inter-party disputes since taking over the reins of the committee and some Republicans have openly charged him with interference, particularly in organizing both houses of the legislature.

CAB DRIVER SLAIN

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 6.—John R. Wood, 42, a taxi-cab driver, was slain today in what police believe was a holdup. Tracks leading away from Wood's machine indicated a man and a woman participated in the killing. Detectives followed the trail in the snow for two blocks, but lost it.

SCHAFFNER RETURNS

Wilfred Schaffner, head of the H. Schaffner Furniture Co., was brought to his home here today from General Hospital in Mansfield, where he had been confined following an automobile accident. His arm was broken in the accident.

DUST INDIANA POSTMASTERS

Four Are Accused of Having Bought Appointments of Congressman.

GOSSIP STARTS INQUIRY

Evidence Turned Over to Justice Department for Further Action.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Swift action by the postoffice department today had ousted four Indiana postmasters charged with purchasing their appointments from a member of congress.

All came from the first district represented by Harry E. Rowbottom, Republican. He was named in the postoffice department announcement of the dismissals yesterday, but two of the dismissed persons said they had contributed to Rowbottom's campaign fund and another was active for him in the last election, which saw Rowbottom's defeat by a Democrat.

Evidence in the case was in the hands of the department of justice for action.

Discharged postmasters are: Otto A. Wellbrenner of Mount Vernon, William E. Davidson of Petersburg, McKinley Ayers of Crisney, and Mrs. Helen Roetz of Booneville. A rural carrier, Rosa Wilber of Dale, was suspended.

The investigation which ended in the dismissals was instigated by Indiana's two Republican senators, Watson and Robinson. Assistant Postmaster General Coleman said they reported gossip prevalent in Indiana regarding payments of money in exchange for appointments.

"A searching investigation," he continued, "was immediately inaugurated by the inspection division, resulting in evidence so conclusive that these postmasters were dismissed."

Appointments to replace the four were made immediately. Rowbottom said at his home in Evansville he knew nothing of the dismissals.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The department of justice said today it plans to send a special prosecutor to Indiana to cooperate with federal officials there in investigating charges against Representative Rowbottom, Republican of Indiana, who is alleged to have accepted money from candidates for postmasterhips.

65,000 PERSONS GO PASS JOFFRE'S BIER

Frenchmen Gazed for Last Time Today on Features of Leader.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Jan. 6.—Frenchmen today gazed for the last time on the familiar, beloved features of "Papa" Joffre, marshal of France, hero of the Marne, and commander of the French armies in the first two years of the World war.

Sixty-five thousand persons were estimated to have filed by the catafalque in the Champs de Mars yesterday to see the body of the late marshal.

There can be no extension of the time for doing homage at the dead marshal's bier beyond 9 o'clock tonight, for at that time the body will be removed to the Cathedral of Notre Dame for the last requiem of the church.

Tomorrow at dawn it will be taken from the cathedral and in an impressive cortege as elaborate as that of Marshal Foch, will be carried to the Invalides, nearly two years ago, carried to the Arc de Triomphe, and to the Invalides for burial not far from the tomb of Napoleon.

The interment in the Invalides will be temporary until a permanent tomb can be arranged at the family home at Louveciennes.

In the long funeral procession which will accompany the body from Notre Dame to the Invalides will be infantry, cavalry, artillery, veterans organizations and foreign representatives, among them Ambassador Edge who will act for the United States.

Cleveland Council To Hear Plea of Jobless

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 6.—The city council's welfare committee today was ready to hear representatives of 700 unemployed men and women who staged a "hunger march" to the city hall last night.

While the council was voting to hear the plea of the jobless, their representatives went back to the crowd which was halted on the steps of the building by three lines of policemen and led a march back to the public square. Fourteen of them entered two restaurants and walked out with a "thank you" in lieu of payment of checks before the crowd melted away at the approach of police cruisers.

More than 10,000 have been killed in English mines in the last 10 years.

conversion of the non-Catholic party.

The Catholic church has one peculiarly useful in maintaining its position. It does not change its mind.

IN BRITAIN 20,000 weavers have started the kind of strike that, in the long run, can never succeed. They are not striking against lower wages; on the contrary, better wages are offered them. They are striking against an arrangement that would enable each man, without overwork, to take care of eight looms instead of four, and earn more. They say that if one man takes care of eight looms that will put other men out of work.

That's what stage coach drivers said when the locomotives came. Typewriters said it when linotype machines were invented. There are more printers than ever, better paid, and railroads employ 1,000 times as many as stage coaches ever did.

When the spinning Jenny and other machinery came it was necessary to build forts around mills to protect them from angry workmen, who said men would lose their jobs. Immediately 10 times as many were employed, since England proceeded to clothe millions in foreign lands.

THE BROOKLYN, N. Y., Young Women's Christian Association is engaged in proving that a young woman can buy enough food to keep herself for $1 a day. Let us hope that she can.

If it were impossible, what would become of the vast host of women who are less than a day or four or five children and pay rent, doctor's bills, buy clothes and shoes?

The main question today is, unfortunately, how can a man feed himself and his wife and children who hasn't got even $1 a day?

CITY FACES SERIOUS FINANCIAL PROBLEM

Estimated Expenses, Cut to Minimum, Far Exceed Income for 1931.

morning said drastic steps toward the elimination of operating expenses probably will be necessary to reduce the operating expenses of the city to fit the appropriation figure.

A glance at the tentative budgets drawn by the department heads reveals that the task of chopping off more than $80,000 will be no simple one. Each department held its budget to a minimum, on order of Mayor L. Don Jones. The budgets were drawn with actual 1930 expenditures as a basis, plus new expenses for 1931 including the operation of additional "white way" lights on Main street, the salaries of four additional firemen, and other new expenses incidental to a growing city.

One-Million Levy Falls

Failure of Marion voters to pass a proposed one-million levy for the city at the last election, and a 10 per cent cut in real estate valuations for taxing purposes contributed to the cut in amount of money available this year, officials say.

The $200,000 figure was certified to city officials by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas as an official estimate of the tax income for the city in 1931. A slight balance in city funds at the end of last year may add a small amount to the amount available for appropriation, officials say.

The appropriation ordinance is expected to come before council Monday night.

Meanwhile, the William N. Page, a Mystic Steamship Co. freighter, was aground at Shinnecock Lighthouse, Long Island, but was said to be in no immediate danger.

The last cargo sailing vessel has disappeared

ficiency of steam and oil!

A sixteen-year-old boy was seized in Brooklyn as one of four youths operating a 200-gal-

aptitude when it comes to emulating the trans-

Commercial failures in 1930, exclusive of bank suspensions, numbered 26,355, but we haven't been able to note anything in press
dispatches to indicate that our federal lawmakers from the West are agitating for commercial relief.

William G. Ogburn, of the University of Chicago, told the scientists assembled up in Cleveland that man of the future will remain a child till forty. Huh! That's nothing! The world is full of people of sixty and seventy
who are children still.

From Honolulu comes the statement that Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, is now the largest
United States submarine base. Pearl Harbor!
That reminds us! Has Uncle Sam ever paid for those storage tanks over there which he confiscated and is now using for naval storage
purposes?

Wisconsin records show that chicken thefts dropped in that state during 1930. The chicken thieves evidently turned to holding up banks
and movie theaters, the hold-up game offering
quicker return and being less arduous.

As the result of a world-wide study of oil
formation which he has made for the American Petroleum Institute, Dr. Parker D. Traub expresses the opinion that it will take 1,000,000
years or more for nature to form deposits of oil for those being depleted by man. "Fill up the tank! Let's go somewhere!"

Congress is in session again, but what's the difference? If the country didn't have congress to worry it there would probably be something else over which to worry, and the country is getting accustomed to the congressional handcap.

Samuel R. McKelvie, a member of the federal farm board, has again asked Senator Nye to investigate activities and expenditures in behalf of the reelection of Senator Norris as well as efforts to defeat him. Tut, tut! Why embarrass Gerald? He may not be as expert in whitewashing as he is at condemnation.

A Splendid Appointment.

The announcement of the selection by Governor-Elect White of I. S. Guthery to be director of agriculture comes as pleasing news
to the people of Marion and Marion county irrespective of political lines, and would be just as enthusiastically received throughout the state were all the electorate as well acquainted with his high worth as are we of his home county. He is an ideal man for the place, being not only a farmer and a successful farmer at that, but also a good business man.

For the benefit of any who may not know
of the extent of his farming interests, it may be said that he owns an 800-acre farm near LaRue and, in association with two sons, operates 700 acres more adjoining it.

A man of education, of ability, of high integrity, Sherm. Guthery, in addition to his knowledge of the problems and needs of agriculture, acquired as the result of his being born and brought up and having spent his life
on a farm, is not without a knowledge of the pitfalls which lie in the path of one to whom
a state position is entrusted, and hence is prepared to evade them. He served Marion county two terms in the lower house of the general assembly and was a member of the state board of administration under Governor James M. Cox. As a banker—he is president of the Campbell National bank, of LaRue—he is in position to know the financial problems which face agriculturists, and his ability
as a speaker, and it may be said his ability
in this regard is far from inconsequential, will enable him to express his views on agriculture
fittingly and well.

Governor-Elect White and the people of the state as a whole may congratulate themselves
over the selection of Mr. Guthery as agricultural director. In all ways qualified, fair-minded and liberal, a better man for the place than Sherm. Guthery could not have been named.

Seeking a New Heavenly Yardstick.

The baby planet, Eros, will be an object of the highest interest to the astronomer's world
for the next thirty or forty days. As the result of a cooperative program sponsored by the International Astronomical union, astronomical cameras in widely-distributed observatories will be directed at it as it passes
more closely approaches our planet than any other measurable celestial body excepting our moon, and the scientists figure that the 29th of the present month will mark its nearest approach to us during the present period, at which time it will be well inside the orbit of Mars, though outside our orbit, and only from 14,000,000 to 18,000,000 miles away. The nearest Venus ever approaches the earth is 28,000,000,
while Mars comes no closer than about 35,- 500,000 miles. On January 29, it will appear as a body of the seventh magnitude and be almost visible to the naked eye, sixth magnitude bodies being thus visible.

The great interest attached to the approaching planet, planetoid or asteroid, call it what you will, is that world astronomers hope to secure as a result of its close approach a new heavenly yardstick for the measurement of
the distance away from us of heavenly bodies.
Heretofore, the scientists have utilized the distance between us and the sun for such a yardstick, but there is ample room for an error of as much as 100,000 miles in the length of the stick. Eros' distance will be determined by using the distance between two widely-separated observatories as the base of a triangle
which has the planet as its apex.

With the length of the base known and the angles of the two long sides of the triangle determined, trigonometric calculations will give the length of the new yardstick. This was the method followed in securing the present yardstick—the distance between us and the sun—but the size of the sun is so enormous that it makes exact calculations difficult, and makes possible as great an error
as we have stated. Using Eros as the apex,
however, the calculations should be accurate
and obviate possibility of error, for at its closest approach, it will be a mere point of light in the sky, and so appear through the most powerful telescopes, as the astronomical
world has figured its diameter to be only about fifteen miles. In a word, it will be as near a mathematical point as any material object can be.

Why Eros has not sooner been utilized for
the securing of a heavenly unit of measurement is easy of explanation. It was not discovered until August of 1868, and as its last comparatively near approach was in 1900-1901,
only two years after its discovery, at which time it was about 30,000,000 miles away, it was moving away from us before the astronomical world realized that the little visitor had reached its point of closest approach during
that period.

We have referred to Eros as the "baby planet." This must be taken as a reference to its size and not to its age, for if there is anything in the nebular hypothesis, Eros is very probably older than the earth. It is the scientific view that in the gap between the terrestrial planets—Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars—and the major planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune—there must have been another planet, which exploded or broke up while yet in gaseous form and formed the hundreds of little planets or asteroids like Eros. They figure this just as they discovered Neptune
by reasoning that there must be some force
beyond Uranus affecting the latter's orbit and as the irregular course of Neptune led to search for and the discovery of Pluto last year.
Such a planet necessarily would have been thrown off before the earth and, as a part of that planet, Eros may be figured to be older than the planet upon which we live.

Automobile executives at the big New York
City 1931 national automobile show speak optimistically on the 1931 prospects in their line. Why not? People may exist without luxuries such as food and clothing, but they just naturally have to have the necessities of life.

Shirley D. Smith, director of immigration
for the Chicago district, reports the deportation
of 650 alien criminals during the year.
That's a good many from one district, but still it's hardly probable that Chicago can consistently claim to have attained a record comparable with that of the famous soap, for which it is maintained that it is 99.94 per cent.
pure.

The wires tell of the seizure of the "largest alcohol cooking plant ever discovered in the Detroit area." One of these days some correspondent will put on the wires the seizure
of just a plain plant of ordinary size, and then
the newspaper world will be bound to sit up and take notice.

A cable from Sydney, Australia, states that tens of thousands of workers in the factories
and retail establishments of New South Wales
will lose their jobs as the result of the policy
of Leader John Lang, of the Labor party, having abandoned the forty-three-hour week for a working week of forty-four hours. It takes a mighty little thing upon which to hang a story of calamity.

While the Wickersham commission is expected to report on prohibition this week, it is not expected to report on crime until July
1. Being in position to report on the former,
it shouldn't be a matter of great difficulty to give its conclusions regarding the latter.

The United States circuit court of appeals
of New York held, Monday, that the eightteenth amendment was constitutionally adopted, which should bring cheer to the members of the United States supreme court who had the audacity to hold to the same effect
without consulting that learned federal district
judge over in New Jersey.

Mme. Lily Pons, the young French soprano who made her debut at the Metropolitan opera-house last week in the name
part of "Lucia di Lammermoor," created a sensation and drew sixteen curtain calls when she took the final note in the mad scene at high F, a full tone higher than leading sopranos usually sing it. If she screamed it like some we have heard, it's a wonder she didn't create a panic.

A PASSING THRUST.

Editorial Opinion.

IF GANGSTERS SCATTER.

With a touch of pride, Chicago's United States district attorney remarks that, if relentless warfare is waged against gangsters,
they will leave Chicago. The five-year sentence of Guzik, "public enemy," for federal income tax evasion prompts this official's optimism. Likewise it should encourage those Chicagoans who have seen how impotent the municipality has been, in dealing with the gangsters.

But does this federal official realize that, if the United States government becomes the sole nemesis of the Chicago gangster, waging relentless warfare on them mainly under income tax laws, and if, as a result of this warfare, the gangsters do leave Chicago, Uncle Sam is thereby putting these gangsters into interstate commerce, in a manner of speaking? The gangsters will go somewhere, if they leave Chicago. It might be to Minneapolis, or St. Paul, or anywhere they might find local conditions favorable, politically or otherwise.

Very well, in accepting responsibility for prosecution, the federal authorities establish an obligation to continue such warfare in whatever area the gangsters seek a haven. There may be communities with enough force and
self-respect to do their own housecleaning.
But there are others that might shirk their duty, just as Chicago has done. Does not the federal acceptance of responsibility in Chicago
imply the larger duty of pursuing the gangsters, wherever they go, and waging a relentless warfare of extermination on them?

The federal government, once it has scattered
these public enemies, must follow them.
Other cities should not be permitted to suffer from adoption of an effective weapon in behalf of Chicago.—Minneapolis Journal.

AN ISTHMIAN REVOLUTION.

After Monaco, Panama. The smallest nations seem to wish to show that they can afford a revolution as well as the largest. Monaco had at least an army of 100 men. Panama has nothing but a police force. Yet the government apparently taken by surprise,
the president captured and imprisoned, and
the leaders of the revolt promptly issued a triumphant proclamation asserting that the tyrants had been overthrown and that the revolution was supported by the "entire people." One can do but recall the rather bouffé revolution of 1903 which, under the protection of the United States government,
brought about the independence of Panama.
This time Washington disclaims all advance knowledge of the outbreak, so that there will be no more telegrams, like those signed by our
"acting" secretary of the navy in 1903, inquiring anxiously why the expected revolution had not been started.

There had been, it is true, certain signs that
the general revolutionary infection of South America had reached Panama. A break in the cabinet had occurred, but it was supposed that this trouble had been smoothed over. Yet it is now evident that the small body of agitators and revolutionists had been simply biding
their time, and found their opportunity in the midst of the celebrations of the New Year.
For our own government the affair is plainly
one for a policy, at present, of "watchful waiting." The United States is bound by treaty to protect the republic of Panama from aggression, but it is in no way under obligation
to interfere in its domestic affairs. Of course, the United States could not put up with any disturbance of transit across the isthmus by the canal or the railroad. But the revolutionists,
or the new government which they may set up,
would hardly be so reckless as to venture upon
anything of the kind.—New York Times.

Dinner Stories.

"I must admit," said the loyal friend, "that I did not fully understand your address to the amalgamated tinsmiths."

"Natural that you shouldn't," answered Senator Sorghum. "I had taken the pains to read carefully about their aims and their occupation. You were looking only for politics and I tried out a new style of speech with, I am inclined to think, much success. The old political speech has its place, but you've got to put in some straight-forward information for the sake of novelty."

Wife—"Henry, where have you been? There's lipstick all over your face."
Colonel—"Maybe it's red ink."
Wife—"Oh, yeah, a mis-print."

An orator, warring up to his task, took off his coat, which rather disconcerted one of the stewards of the meeting, who thought that a reporter would make a sensation out of the incident.

Toward the close, he said to the speaker:
"I don't suppose you knew, when you removed
your coat, that a newspaper man was present?"
"Yes, I did," was the reply. "I kept my eye
on the coat all the time."

"If you found a pound note in your pocket,
what would be your first thought?"
"That I had put on the wrong coat."

"Sensitivity Tests."

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

No one who has never had it can really appreciate the misery and anguish that one with asthma goes through. In an attack of this dreaded disease, there is a spasm of the wind-
pipe and of the smaller tubes that bring air
to the lungs.

There is marked difficulty in breathing. The patient can not lie down and he may assume odd positions in his attempts to breathe more freely. He complains that he is unable to "catch his breath." He suffers painfully because of the lack of air reaching his lungs.

We have a great group of cases caused by nonventilation to certain substances. These may be animal emanations, certain foods, the pollen
of plants, and in some cases, substances developed by bacteria. In many instances, the bedding, or one of the house furnishings, may be the source of the irritation.

Individuals suffering from this type of asthma should be subjected to "sensitivity
tests." By means of these tests the substance
which causes the attacks may be determined.
Then when it is removed from the diet, the clothing or the surroundings, the attacks usually disappear. The tests are simple and painless and the results are gratifying. The results of the treatment have been exceptionally successful in children.

We have another type of asthma which is commonly seen in adults beyond forty years of age. This is commonly spoken of as "non-specific asthma," for it is not due to one of the irritating substances I have mentioned.
It is the type seen in individuals who have
long been sufferers from chronic bronchitis.

In this the prospect of cure is not so bright.
It has not been determined exactly what is the cause of the paroxysms or spasms. These attacks vary in intensity. At times they are so severe that relief is only obtained by hypo-
dermic medication by a physician.

A change in climate is likely to benefit persons suffering from asthma. Countries with dry, temperate climate are helpful to many.
The victim of chronic asthma should be under the constant supervision of a physician. Continued asthmatic attacks weaken the heart and lungs. These organs should be periodically examined for any signs of weakness so that proper treatment may be given.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

A WORRIED MOTHER. Q—My boy of eight is apparently well and healthy with red lips and rosy cheeks, but he has bluish
shadows under his eyes which are more noticeable owing to the fact that he has a very white skin. Is a condition of this kind serious in any way? He has had worms.

A—This may be of little significance, but it would be wise to have a thorough examination to locate a possible cause. Be sure the worms have been definitely eradicated, and be

X. Y. Q—Is there a cure for colitis?
2—What is oedema of the veins—is this anything like arthritis?
3—What will improve the circulation and health in general?

A—That depends upon the extent and seriousness of the trouble. In some cases proper diet and care will bring about a cure. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—This disturbance is a swelling or puffi-

will take care of itself.

4—Not necessarily, although the trouble
may be due to this disturbance. Have the kidneys examined to make sure they have no
bearing on the trouble.

Mental Hygiene.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The rapidly increasing study of mental hygiene has grown and developed within recent years is one of the most arresting of modern phenomena in the field of science, as applied to mind. The first mental hygiene society in the world was established only twenty-two years ago.

Following the establishment of this first organization, the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene, there was established within less than a year afterward, through the efforts of this body, the National Committee for Mental Hygiene. On May 8, 1930, the first international congress on mental hygiene was held at Washington. Mental hygiene is now a problem of international moment and is a subject of study throughout the world.

The leader of this great movement is Clifford W. Beers, author of the memorable autobiography, "A Mind That Found Itself." The treatment he received in an institution convinced him that ignorance and stupidity,
rather than the act of robbing a bank, ruled
in institutions for the mentally alienated.

He inaugurated this great movement in the hope of sparing others the painful and scarifying experience through which he had passed. The importance and urgency of the movement may be divined when attention is called to the fact that there are 1,000,000 young people walking the streets of this country today who, according to the figures of statisticians, are necessarily doomed to spend some of their time in institutions for mental disease.

The study and practice of mental hygiene follows, in its basic features, the attitude of the physician or the surgeon. In dealing with patients, the doctor is not concerned primarily with moral factors. He is a healer, not a judge.

The surgeon probes for the bullet, regardless of whether it is received in defense of the home or the act of robbing a bank. The fundamental pulse is kindness and helpfulness; the fundamental assumption is that human life is in itself valuable.

The specialist in mental hygiene proceeds on
this sound hypothesis, believing that life,
health, mind should be saved; and that it is a matter of prime importance, both to the individual and to the community, that the way
of living should be as far as possible improved.

One of the most important advances made
in mental hygiene has to do with social maladjustment and personal unhappiness. Many a mind is fundamentally sound, but is suffering from remediable trouble resulting from minor psychoses and neuroses. Psychiatry has become an integral and essential feature
in the practice of medicine today.

Science thereby seeks to study and to remove
not only the causes of personal maladjustment
to life, but also the maladjustment which so constantly arise in occupation, affecting unfavorably not only the individual workers, but also industry as a whole. The army and navy have actively concerned themselves with the study of mental defects and disorder in the interest of the service.

Mental hygiene has now developed to the point where it follows three well-recognized forms of procedure. It is concerned, first, with the therapeutic basis on the control of the stimuli to which the organism is subjected by its environment; second, a psychotherapeutic
concerned in the effect to change the individual from within; and, third, prophylaxis as applied to this great problem in preventive medicine.

As Dr. William A. White has recently pointed out, mental hygiene presents a positive program for life well lived, for mental health because of its decisive value. Mens sana in corpore sano is properly phrased by Plato in the words: "My belief is, not that a good body will of its own excellence make the good soul, but, on the contrary, that a good
soul will, by its excellence, render the body
as perfect as it can be."—Copyright, 1931, by

Governor Brough's G. O. No. 5.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Soon after John Brough assumed the office
of governor in 1881, he issued a military order,
No. 5, which has been referred to as determining that he should be a one-term governor.
His predecessor, Governor Todd, has followed
no fixed rule regarding the filling of vacancies
in military offices, and had suffered from that.
Governor Brough would have a fixed policy
G. O. No. 5 proclaimed that policy.

It was that in filling vacancies in the regiments, promotions would be made by seniority, excepting in the case of incompetence. He called attention to the fact that the general government had a system that weeded out the incompetent minor officers and that would relieve him of the difficulty of determining which officers were competent and which were not.

But this met with general disapproval
among commanding officers, for it took from them the authority of disposing of commissions in their commands as they wished—an authority which they had generally exercised up to this time. There began to organize among them at once a general cabal in hostility toward the governor. A feeling that relations were broken between the commanding
officers and the governor pervaded the men
and many complaints were made direct to the governor and the first colonels knew about it
as well as when they came back with interrogations from the executive officers in Columbus.

Some of these were returned to the governor
with the blunt statement that when sent through the proper military channels they would receive attention. The governor's mail was filled with correspondence which contained blistering sentences on both sides. One colonel, J. R. Bond, was dismissed for failure to deliver a commission. A letter from Colonel Dan McCook of the Fifty-Second was sent back by the governor with the explanation that when couched in respectful language his wants would be considered. From military disposition became political, and on June 15, 1889,
Governor Brough issued a letter to the press
to the effect that under no circumstances
would he be a candidate for the nomination to succeed himself.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 6.—This has been the leanest
year in the memory of any living free lance writer. But the saturation point is reached.
The worst is over. The boys and girls who crash the pulp paper magazines have dusted
off their typewriters to bang out feverish
yarns again.

During the hiatus, editors of romance, mystery and detective tales used up stories that had been purchased but deferred for one reason or another. Thus the fashions of "pet boilers" could only dip into their reserve supply of cash—if any—and mark time.

Two "sensational" scribes who averaged around $200 a week in affluent days did not sell a line for more than ten months. Many turned to other jobs temporarily and still others abandoned fiction completely. Freelancing is always hazardous, but few callings
offer a greater emotional wallop.

Aside from the tangle of creating imaginary
thrills, there is the romance of living by gamblers' odds. The free lance does not write by order as do his more fortunate fellows. He writes and takes his chance. If his effort
does not hit one bull's-eye it may another.

The free lance has no assurance of regular income and is improvident, but no class is so happy-go-lucky. They get up when they please, retire in the same manner and work
as the spirit moves. And every new day may mark the coming of something unexpected,
something new like the allegro of a sonata.

HOOVER BREAKS RADIO RECORD

The United States government used more than 450 broadcasting hours over the networks of the National Broadcasting Company during 1930 according to records recently compiled. During the year, the government was the largest individual user of broadcasting.

Records showed that 328 government officials, including President Hoover, spoke over NBC. These officials made a total of 850 radio addresses, with the President high up in the list with 27 appearances before the microphone. Every department of the government was represented in the speakers list.

President Hoover established a new record for presidential broadcasts within one year with his 27 microphone appearances. The record further showed that since being in the White House in a period of 22 months—President Hoover spoke 37 times. This equals the record of former President Coolidge who spoke over the radio 37 times in the seven years he was chief executive.

The Westinghouse Pioneers, a vocal chorus and orchestra under the direction of Zed Parenteau, will present a program of light opera selections over an NBC network Tuesday at 10 p. m.

The story of an itinerant parson who tried to convert the hard-rock miners will be dramatized in the Death Valley Days Episode, as broadcast over an NBC network Tuesday at 9:30 p. m.

Expenditure of $432,645 Authorized at Meeting

Total Shows Slight Increase Over Amount for 1930; Plans Ready for Opening of New Building on Indiana Avenue on Jan. 26.

Marion city schools will spend this year approximately $432,645, according to the 1931 appropriations authorized by the school board at its meeting last night in the office of Superintendent George A. Bowman in Harding High school.

The estimated expenditures are slightly higher than the actual expenses for 1930 which totaled $404,154.22, but Superintendent Bowman pointed out that the figure may be reduced in certain items although a slight addition may be made to the others.

Gegenheimer Re-elected.
Frank C. Gegenheimer was re-elected president of the board for the coming year and Mrs. Laura Stigley was re-elected vice president. Hector S. Young was re-elected as clerk-treasurer.

Bowman reported that the new $100,000 elementary school at Indiana and Pennsylvania avenues would be ready for use at the beginning of the second semester on Jan. 26 and the board instructed him to complete the plans necessary for the opening of the new building.

The superintendent said only six of the 10 rooms in the building would be used for the remainder of the year but that the building usually will be filled to its capacity of 400 pupils next fall when the 1931-32 term opens.

Pupils for the new building will be transferred from Forest Lawn and Vernon Heights schools, and probably only the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be involved in the initial transfer on Jan. 26. Next fall, however, the first, second and third grades also may be transferred to the new building, Bowman said.

Teachers to Move
Opening of the new building will not necessitate an increase in the teaching staff since teachers of the grades to be transferred will accompany their pupils.

The appropriations of $432,645

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it fast. It cures cough, chest cold, it takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint this made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable threefold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germs laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Newberg Pine, containing the active agent of crowsfoot, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Severe Breaking Out on Back of Neck. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had a severe breaking out of eczema on the back of my neck. It started in the form of a rash and was angry looking. It itched and burned causing me to scratch a great deal, also losing sleep at night. I tried different remedies but without results. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after bathing with hot water and Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment I got relief. I used them three times a day and about one cake of Soap and one half box of the Ointment completely healed the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. L. A. Kaats, Rock, Kansas.

THREE candles and each one represents a year of joyous living. Betty Jane Glenn, of 7031 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"My druggist told me about California Fig Syrup, and when Betty Jane became constipated we got some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, sweetened her breath, made her bright and happy again."

"I have also used Fig Syrup for her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headachy, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All druggists.

THE LOW PRICE HABIT

(A customer wrote this ad)

"I began shopping at an A&P store reluctantly. We don't need to be careful about expenditures, and I am a little fussy. It didn't seem to me likely that I could get what I want where the crowds go."

"Your coffee caught me. I came on your Eight O'clock by accident. It suited me better than any brand I had tried, in spite of its low price."

"Going to your store for my coffee, I began to notice other things. I tried a few and found them good, though cheap. Gradually I extended my purchases until now I get all my food from A&P."

"I'd still rather pay by check at the end of the month. But I am now used to cash payments, and saving money while getting the very best gives me what my children call a real kick. I thought you might like to know this."

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC

"A marvelous invention," he said. "A machine for making money—without getting pinched for it. Just in case you never saw one, it's a portable writing engine. You tick the keys and it writes little words on a sheet of paper. A lot of those sheets make up a play. To stand any chance of production, a play must first be read. Managers won't consider one unless it's neatly typed. Hence agents pay real money for copying manuscripts. Do you get my drift, old dear?"

"Oh, Jimmy," Alleen was eager. "Could I get copying to do?"

"You can fire when ready," he told her. "I've brought you a pair of scripts. As soon as your fingers get nimble up, you can run them off in no time—and I can bring you plenty. You can make six copies easily. When they're typed and bound, you can bill the hopeful author about 20 bucks."

There were tears behind the slits of the mask, but they were happy tears. Here was not only a source of income, but something to keep her occupied during her lonely hours. Alleen was supremely grateful. "How long should it take me to do one? I've never had any practice."

"A day or two when you get the knack—and that won't take long. Sit down and I'll give you a lesson." Delighted, she did as he told her, and Jimmy began explaining. "First, you pick out a sentence and type it over and over, as rapidly as you can. That teaches you the key-board. For instance, look at this—"

With practiced speed he produced a line....

I'm in love with the loveliest girl a lover ever loved

He paused and looked up at her. "You see it's perfectly simple, once you get the hang of it. Now let me watch you try it."

Alleen did, and both of them laughed. He put his hands on hers and guided them, and something a little more nearly correct appeared on the white sheet. But the warmth of his touch made her forget what she was trying to do. Jimmy's face was close to hers and his cheek was brushing her mask. With a feeling of panic she sprang up and clutched madly at the ribbon which held the domino.

"I'm sorry," he said. "You'll get it all right—when you try it by yourself." He knew what had frightened her, and he was perfectly well aware of something that would not do. He knew that he would have kissed her in another moment. So he pulled out a pack of cigarettes and passed one to Alleen. Neither of them said a word as she puffed at it.

Jimmy tried not to seem concerned but he felt strange sensation as he watched her smoke. That mask! It stood between them—made her even more unobtainable than she had been before. Yet the irony of the domino was that it made her more fascinating.

With the smoke curling slowly from her lips she reminded him of a picture of a girl at a masquerade. On the verge of saying so, he caught himself in time. Perhaps a little music would divert her mind. No, hang it! That would only turn her thoughts into other channels equally as bad. What the devil could he say that didn't have some kick-back it was better to avoid.

"I've a thought," he suggested as one flashed across his mind. "It would do you a world of good to go out—get a breath of fresh fall air. Suppose I phone for a limousine—"

"No, Jimmy—please. I'd rather not."

"Alleen, don't be foolish. If we meet anyone on the way down stairs, what difference does it make? You have to go out sometimes. Not a soul will notice us, once we are in the car. We can drive through the park and over the bridge."

"But I have to get dinner for Vivienne—"

"We'll be back in lots of time." He did not say what he wanted to in reply to that objection. "Really, Jimmy—some other day."

"Oh, come on. Be a sport. I dare you!"

He could have bitten his tongue for saying that. Garland Woodward had said it to Vivienne on the night of Channing's party. Alleen, of course, had heard him, just as Jimmy had. Now, his well intentioned effort had brought all that back to her.

"No," she said very gently. "If you don't mind I won't." Of course she wanted to go with him, but she knew it would not be wise. Alleen would not chance their being alone in the intimate proximity of a limousine. They would be even more alone than they were in the apartment. In the car they would sit side by side. Jimmy's hand would touch hers. After a while she knew that he would take her in his arms.

And Alleen wanted terribly to feel them tight about her. Only now, she never would. Because she could never—never—run the risk of his seeing her face.

To be continued.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TUESDAY. Not so cold. But I bet nobody went swimming. When me and Jubilee woke up I don't know what woke him up, but I woke up because I was laying on a three cornered flatiron, and it was ice cold. The forepart of the night a fella had to lay close up against the flatiron to keep him warm, and after that he has to lay close to keep it warm enough so that it won't freeze him.

I went down and milked the cows when I had let Jubilee down, and nobody came. And when I had fed my face there was only Younis and Feeble and Maggie came, and they wouldn't of come if they couldn't of got into the house. We have still got our snow house out in the yard but the weather is so cold we can't use it. The teacher says if the weather keeps up we'll have to burn the schoolhouse to keep from freezing. I would be glad to help her do that even if I wasn't freezing.

I went in the basement to tell Muzh's wife that it wasn't me that hit her with the snowball, and she searched me before she would let me go near the furnace. She had scratched everyone as fast as they came in. And we were all getting warm and letting our dogs get warm when she said she would bet no one would hit her with a snowball this morning. I said I hoped not.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Saves the Day.

A T Dicky a reproach to his mother, because of her strictures concerning my management of the problem of Junior and his new sister. I knew that something must be done, and that quickly, or the joyous homecoming of my small son and nephew and the Underwoods would be marred by a scene.

For my mother-in-law was displaying all the symptoms of one of her famous "lantrums"—far less frequent in these later years than when I first came into the family, but still potent with dynamite. Her eyes, still bright, despite her years, were dark now with anger, and she put her hand up to her throat, as if something were choking her.

"When my own son," she began, huskily—and I prepared for dramatic action. With a little private signal to Dicky, which I knew he understood, I flamed into denunciatory speech to him.

"It is you who have no consideration for me, or for your mother," I said. "You know how easily upset I am, just now, and how I dislike to hear you speak rudely to your mother. What she said didn't annoy me at all, but what you have just said to her worries me. I think you owe her an apology."

A Successful Ruse

I hoped I wrote a sufficiently convincing air of a neurotic woman, who must not be annoyed. I saw Dicky's lips twitch. Now that he comprehended my ruse and had hard work to keep my own facial muscles from showing that I was not my husband to my mother-in-law.

"Please don't mind him, Mother, dear," I said. "I am so happy to-day with Junior home again that I can't bear to have you feel annoyed."

My mother-in-law had risen from her chair with the evident intention of flouncing out of the room. But at my appeal she stopped and looked at me with a wondrous little grin playing around her lips.

"You're overdoing it," she said, caustically. "I might have awoken it, if you hadn't raked your husband over the coals quite so hard. It isn't like Richard to take anything like that lying down, so I'm sure you're just acting out a charade for my benefit."

Involuntarily I turned to Dicky, and he nodded his head immediately. Getting down on his knees, he wriggled his way across the veranda rug to her, his hands uplifted in a grotesque parody of penitence.

"Mother dear! Ma mere! Madonna mia! Mi madre! Meine Mutter!" he intoned, with a patient exhaustion of his phrase book, "Design to forgive your penitent son! Honest! I'll never do it again."

Her face softened imperceptibly, as she looked down at her only son, the favorite of her children. But her voice was grim.

"Get up, immediately, and stop making an anointed idiot of yourself," she commanded.

"That might not be a bad idea," Dicky returned, imperceptibly. But when he had risen to his feet, he laid a tender, compelling hand upon her arm.

"We're neither of us needed around here, Mother dear," he said. "Madge and I haven't had a chance to go over the affairs of the universe and settle them properly since early June. And it's a job that's crying for them—we all know that. So suppose we let them go, and you come out with me to the rose garden. I need some advice on that—you know—what before the rest come out."

An Imperative Humano

"Why the mystery, Dicky darling?" Lillian asked as his mother, now thoroughly appeased, suffered him to lead her toward the outer door. But I knew that she did not expect an answer. With her usual intuition and tact she had interpreted my instantaneous flash, and knew that Dicky's wife, though a familiar one, to which I ought to be impervious, nevertheless had stung me.

But there was no sensitive flush upon Lillian's cheeks as she looked
